

she is now dead. She cannot recall her name. She gave the mid-wife $7. to go down to have the baby registered, but she does not know whether she did or not, however, she is positive about the date. Mary was married when she was fifteen years old to a man by the name of Fred Kesselring. She had three children, girls, but they were all born dead. They lived in Jersey City Heights at that time. Her husband is said to have divorced her. She was also married to a man by the name of Harry Kitchky, who also divorced her. She ran a disorderly house at 119 Academy Street, Newark, New Jersey. One day she was standing outside soliciting business when a man passed and she said "Hello Bill". She did not know this man and never saw him before, but his name happened to be Bill. He stopped and talked to her and wanted to know how she knew his name was Bill. He turned out to be Bill Easton. From that time, this man, Bill Easton, called on her and lived with her, but they were never married. She had no children by him. Mrs. Gibson raised three children - one boy and two girls. The boy is about 22 or 23 years old and he is her son by Harry Kitchky. One girl was raised by Mrs. Gibson, who was not her own child. A poor family lived next door who had a number of children and could not support them, so Mrs. Gibson took this little girl and raised her. When the girl got big and old enough, she ran away. She is now in California and the other girl baby who she has on the farm with her, was born on the pig farm, June 28, 1923. This child is by William Whittaker, a man who works in and around the farm.

Mrs. Gibson's mother told me that she knows that Mrs. Gibson stole a large pig from a colored woman named
